

"When your whole world falls apart, will you still proclaim the goodness of God? Will you choose Him NO MATTER WHAT?"

Guy & Dani Morrison met in the 1980s, quickly fell in love, and began a rocky, married life together. Soon into their marriage, they dealt with deep brokenness and sin that tempted to destroy them. They battled through alcohol and drug abuse, challenging situations with foster children, medical trauma with all three of their biological children, demonic possession or oppression, porn addiction, the consequences of a past abortion, and more. Eventually, both Guy & Dani found freedom through Jesus Christ, and their lives began to radically change.

In 2013, their world was turned upside-down when Dani was diagnosed with stage four cancer that doctors believed would end her life. Interestingly, just weeks before receiving her diagnosis, the Morrises were asked by a conference speaker, "When your whole world falls apart, will you still proclaim the goodness of God?"

After multiple surgeries, Dani's face was cut up and rearranged, leaving her with a tracheostomy tube and facial disfigurement. Viewing his wife with God's eyes, Guy was able to embrace a deeper beauty in Dani, and together, they have found incredible hope and love in their "new normal." Guy & Dani have spent years helping the down-and-out, the orphaned, the homeless, and the "undesirables." They are a father and mother to many and have accepted God's call to love those in need of family. Through the trials, Guy & Dani's intimacy with each other and with Jesus has just gotten better and better. Their story is an incredible memoir of discovering beautiful redemption in Jesus and leaning into His goodness NO MATTER WHAT.
